Description Unusual antique Neo-Rococo 6 light french chandelier Circa 1900. The brass is the typical french acid finish ormulo look which was so popular during the Victorian era in France.

The chandelier is a swan arm motifs.

Originally, this chandelier was made for french electrical sockets when we received it.

We think it came out well. We also installed our hand-cut crystal shades which were typical of the early gas period having the scarce 2 5/8" fitter instead of the later 2 1/4" or 4". Normally during this period you could get chandeliers either as candle tubes or with shades.

Measurements: The Chandelier height is 36". The diameter is 27" with the shades shown.

$ 1,650.00 for the Neo-Rococo swan chandelier, complete with the shades shown... plus careful packaging and shipping
