Description
This 1930’s American Art Deco chair practically invites you to plop down and relax. It is unusual enough that you won’t see another one like it on the block but it is so comfortable that you wonder why more weren’t made. The chair legs have been re-ebonized in black and the body of the chair is reupholstered in soft ultra suede. The chair is 25” wide x 25” deep x 28” high at the back and has a seat height of 18”.
